Bay St. Louis

Gary Griffin is the apparent winner in the Saturday election for Bay St. Louis Ward One councilman.

Charles Gottschalk, election coordinator announced at 6:30 p.m. in the Bay City Hall council room that unofficial returns in the race show Griffin with 174 votes to William Hilliker's 136.

Although the count does not include 37 affidavit ballots cast in the Ward One election, if Hilliker received all of those he would still lose by one vote, Gottschalk noted.

He said the affidavit ballots were cast by voters who had been inadvertantly taken off the rolls as Ward One voters.

City Clerk Edward Favre will investigate if those 37 voters are in Ward One and report his findings to the Hancock County Election Commission which will meet Monday night to certify the totals, Gottschalk reported.

Favre said five absentee ballots were cast out of 346 total not including the affidavit votes.

He estimated 35 percent of Ward One voters participated in the Saturday election based on the total number of registered voters which is about 1,000. Both men are political newcomers. Griffin is a Bay Senior High School coach and teacher. Hilliker is a retiree from a management career.

Griffin of 814 Jackson St. was present to hear the unofficial tally and stated "It was a good race by Mr. Hilliker," he's a good man."

"My plan is to work with the council and try to improve what we've got here in Bay St. Louis," he said.

"I'd like to thank all the voters that came out and voted for or against me. I'll cater to no one, just Ward One and Bay St. Louis," Griffin added. Hilliker was not available for com-

Hancock education officials say:

Bay district may owe county schools money

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Bay St. Louis Muncipal Separate School District may have to pay the Hancock County School District several thousand dollars in back taxes if certain procedures were not followed to add territory to the city district.

Terrell Randolph, county superintendent of education, at a Saturday recess meeting of the Hancock School Board read a letter from Robert S. Reeves, special assistant to the state appears.

The letter to Randolph replies to several questions he poses regarding additions to the city district in Waveland and the Shoreline Park area after 1956 when the original boundaries for the two public school systems were

Randolph reported at a school board meeting several months ago that territory was probably added to the Bay district without the necessary consent of the county school board when Waveland expanding its boundaries after 1956.

Reeves' letter reports the Waveland Board of Aldermen in 1956 was given a choice by the State Educational Finance Commission to join one of the then new public school districts after the increase to the EFC to form its own school district was rejected.

The state official notes that the aldermen chose to join the Bay district and states, "It seems to me that when Waveland chose to become a part of the Bay St. Louis district under a set of boundary lines created by the b education and the EFC, that these boundaries were sacred unless the

terested parties."

Reeves reports state law allows the automatic extension of Bay school district lines in conjuction with an annexation by that city, but Waveland corporate limit extensions would not automatically expand the Bay district.

"The expansion of the city limits of Waveland which is not a municipal separate school district but is part of the added territory of the Bay St. Louis Separate School District, would not automatically expand the Bay St. Louis Separate School District," he states.

Randolph told the county school board, "The Bay district can't expand its boundaries in Waveland without the of this board (county school his board are personal friends of "What I would like is to have the Amtrak train stop in Bay St. Louis and also in Waveland." "This is all I'm after."

Bennett said he also learned during his discussions with Havens and the PSC attorney that city officials can regulate speed limits for trains passing through their communities.

A state statute which gave PSC final say-so on train speeds has been amended, he said.

Attempts are currently being made to raise the speed limit for trains traveling along the Gulf Coast Ltd. route.

Although the Bay City Council agreed in November to raise the speed limit to 45 m.p.h., the intent to do so was never advertised and the speed limit has not been changed.

'In view of the recent train/car collision in Long Beach, we'll be discussing the speed limit again," Bennett said, noting there are eight railroad crossings in Bay St. Louis.

Tri-State Rapid Rail Transit Commissioner D.E. Wilcox of Waveland reported in late January that negotiations are continuing for a second Amtrak train that would stop in Bay St. Louis and other communities that are not now scheduled for stops.

Gulfview first grader is state Poster Child

Mississippi's 1984 March of Dimes Poster Child is Samantha (Sam) Faith Bordages, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel T. (Tommy) Bordages Jr. of Lakeshore.

Sam will be representing the more than 3,000 children born in Mississippi each year with birth defects.

Sam was born March 15, 1976 at Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis. She is a congenital quadralateral amputee, having been born without part of both legs and arms.

She has had two operations at the Shrine Hospital in Shreveport, La. The first, when she was six months old, was to correct a disjointed hip and the second was to remove a growth that would normally have been the continuation of her leg. Sam has been in therapy and training at the Crippled Children's Treatment and Training Center in Jackson and is presently receiving treatment at the Blake Clinic, also in Jackson. Sam has a six-year-old sister, Ande, and a four-year-old brother, Bo. they live on 40 acres of land where her family operates a fishing camp.

Naturally, one of Sam's favorite pastimes is fishing. She likes animals and playing outdoors with her sister and brother. She also enjoys playing with her Barbie dolls, video games (especially Pac-Man), and listening and dancing to rock and roll music. Sam attends first grade at Gulfview Elementary School and is on the honor roll. Sam has an outgoing and friendly personality and makes friends easily. She accepts her handicap well and is willing to attempt any situation that comes along.

Sam's grandparents are Mrs. Grace A. Dale of Picayune and the late Lionel Bordages Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Williams of Orange, Calif.

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, through its education and fund raising efforts, works to reduce the incidence of birth defects — the nation's most serious child health pro-assisted at the accident scene. School Board seats

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT Betty Diboll, a Waveland resident twice elected to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board to represent Waveland and the district's unincorporated area, has moved to Bay

By moving from the area she has represented, Diboll forfeits her seat on the school board.

However, the Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday approved a recommendation from Mayor Larry Bennett appointing a Diboli to replace James Ginn of Bay St. Louis on the board.

Ginn's appointive term expires this month. So by week's end, Diboll apparently will remain on the board even though she has moved from Waveland, Ginn will not be reappointed to his alot from Bay St. Louis, and a vacancy will exist on the board which eventually must be filled by special election in Waveland and the unincorporated or 'outside' area of the school district.

The school board currently is composed of three members appointed from Bay St. Louis—Ginn, Reginald shuffled, Ginn to Robinson and Cyril Glover and two members elected from the Wavelandunincorporated area—Diboll and Board President Walter Turcott.

Ginn said Friday he had indicated to the mayor his willingness to serve a se-c and term on the board, and will taste a statement to that effect at the board's regular February meeting at 7 p.m.

Diboli was elected first to a one-year term in 1979 and again to a five-year term in 1980, thus leaving an unexpired one year on her elective term in

Board Attorney Lucien Gex says the vacant elective position will be filled by a Bay City Council appointment until a special school board election is held in March of 1985. State law, he says, requires that such an election be held the first Saturday in March following a vacancy.

But another state law formerly requiring that persons wishing to qualify for the election do so at least ten days beforehand has been amended to 40 issue statement Because Diboll resigned from her elected position less than 40 days before the first Saturday in March, 1984

(March 3), an election cannot be held then because no one can qualify. Because of this, the attorney general has recommended that a vacancy be declared on March 5 to be filled by an appointment by the Bay council, the governing body cited by statute to make such appointments. Ger said he is sure the board will publish a notice about the election next December, although it is not required by law to do so.

While he offered no explanation whey he failed to reappoint Ginn, Bennett said Friday that Ginn has been an excellent board member.

"Anytime anyone serves on a board or commission, they do so because of civic pride and personal interest in their community, Bennet continued.

"The school board and planning and zoning commission, for some reason, come under more fire than any other boards." James Ginn did a very, very good job for us," the mayor said.

A full week of basketball will begin on Monday at Bay High's Tiger Dome on Blue Meadow Road. Bay High is host for the District VIII-A boys and girls high school basketball tournament,

Action gets underway at 5 p.m. on Monday when Forest County High girls meet Vancleave in the opening game.

The champions for the district will be decided on Satuday night for girls at 7 p.m. and boys at 8 p.m.

Bay High and Pass Christian, which are both rated as A schools are the local teams scheduled to see action.

We hope Bay High's Tiger Dome will be overflowing with spectators each night.

Many motorists are apparently unaware of the fact that they should use lights when highways and roadways are covered by fog.

We traveled to Waveland Saturday morning and fog was out, we were suprised at how many vehicles were on the highway without lights.

We would like to urge all motorists to please use their lights when it is foggy, this could possibly help avoid an accident.

It is a shame how many acres of land in Hancock County has already been damaged with forest fires.

It is a criminal offense to start a woods fire and we urge all citizens to please notify the sheriff's office if they see anyone doing so.

The arson squad can be reached at 467-5101.

It takes so many years for a tree to grow before it can withstand a fire.

We saw a section of young pine trees Friday being destroyed by a fire along Ansley Road.

CHILD SUPPORT PAYMENTS

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring legislation mandating withholding of child support payments from the supporting parent.

The bill is aimed at ensuring that parents or spouses who have been ordered to make child support payments comply with such decrees and agreements.

"Unpaid child support is a serious, and growing problem, throughout the nation," Senator Cochran commented. "It is having an adverse impact on the children and families involved, and is also contributing to growing dependence on public welfare in many

He said figures show that unpaid child support totaled nearly $4 billion annually and that among single mothers caring for children, over onethird are below the poverty level.

"The social and financial costs of allowing this trend to continue are catastropic," the Senator said, "and the children, the real victims of this child support delinquency, are being denied food, clothing and shelter."

At present, a woman faced with financial responsibility of raising a family has only a 50 percent assurance that she and her children will receive court-ordered child support payments.

S. 1777, entitled "The, Immediate Child Support Enforcement Act," would require mandatory withholding of child support payments from the supporting spouse and would also require reciprocity agreements between the

The bill would cover all children with legally-ordered support obligations, not just children in the Aid for Families with Dependent Children program.

Mandatory deducations of wages or other income would help relieve crowded court dockets, allow state agencies to more productively use their resourses, ensure compliance with court orders, and keep many families off the welfare rolls.

Bay native articulates nature of neighborhood problem

Letter to the Editor Dear Sir,

I am a native of Bay St. Louis and presently reside in what seems to be the controversial area of Sycamore and St. Francis Streets. I patronize the establishments in my community and look forward to innovations that will bring prosperity to the business owners and residents as well. However, from the past to the present there exist deteriorating factors that constitute an erosion of honesty, hospitality, and community harmony. Several of these factors are: 1) traffic violations and violations of city ordinances; 2) festival-type congregations in the streets that will not yield to oncoming traffic, vehicular or pedestrian; 3) illegal transactions with occupants of passing vehicles, 4) night club entrances blocked due to bystanding and loitering of non patronizing in-Under these conditions what sound-minded individual would enter a club for an evening of entertainment and relaxation? Would you, the reader, agree to rear your children under similar conditions? Conditions where no discretion is used when it comes to verbal and physical expression of feelings? Where one's personal and private enjoyment becomes entertainment for school children who are potential leaders of tomorrow?

These are questions we must deal with and act upon now!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The both by creating a popular ture from the conventional

As we approach the Bicentennial of our Constitu-The American Constitution .. tion, it is appropriate that we remind ourselves of the remarkable scheme of government devised by the founders of this nation.

U.S. Attorney General reviews

Throughout this country's history, our Constitution has served us well, proving in so many instances its durability and its adaptability to changing conditions.

Gladstone was most certainly correct in calling the American Constitution the 'most remarkable work...to have been produced by the human intellect at a single stroke."

Perhaps the key reason that our Constitution has been so effective is that the framers not only established a strong, efficient national government, but also designed a system of government that would protect the liberties of the American people.

While the provisions of the Bil! of Rights and those of the 14th Amendment have become most associated with the preservation of individual rights and liberties, America would not have become the land of the free if the framers had not "secured the blessings of liberty" in the original, unamended Constitution.

To preserve individual rights and liberties, the framers first thought it necessary to establish a popular government in which all power would be derived from the people.

As Madison wrote, nothing less than popular government could comport with the principles of the American Revolution.

The framers recognized. however, that a popularly based government would not necessarily preserve liberty because the people could at times be their own worst rise up and control a popular government, invading private rights and damaging the common good, perhaps even destroying the government

Therefore, the framers established a popular government, but one in which government would be assembled and administered by representataives whom the citizens elected.

The framers were not so naive, however, as to believe that the principle of representation would by itself prevent the rise of tyrannical ma-

They decided, therefore, to establish a further precaution: They divided the sovereignty of government by allocating power not only between the nation and the states, but also within the national power among the three branches and by providing each branch with checks and balances on the others.

Constitutional checks and balances

According to Madison, each different branches of governbranch was given the "necessary constitutional means and personal motives to resist encroachment of the other" because "the accumulation of all pwers, legislative, executive and judical, in the same hands, whether of one, a few or many, and whether hereditary, self appointed, or elective, may justly be pronounced the very definition of tyranny."

Maintaining the delicate balance of power established by our Constitution has never

During the past decades, we have witnessed great controversies about the respective powers, limitations, and responsibilities of the different branches of government.

Branches of government have occasionally overstepped constitutional limitations and assumed authority confided by the Constitution to another branch.

In assuming power central to another branch or ignoring prescriptions for action contained in the Constitution, government leaders weaken a most significant pillar of free government.

To preserve our liberty, it is essential that all branches of government stay within the bounds of power delegated to them by the Constitution. This is not to say that the Constitution requires that the ment operate in isolation. As Justice Jackson observed in Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. v. Sawyer, "while the Constitution diffuses power the better to secure liberty, it also contemplates that practice will integrate the dispersed powers into a workable government. It enjoins upon its branches separateness but interdependence, autonomy but reciprocity." The different branches of government should seek to fulfill their constituional duties with vigor and without hesitation. At the same time, they must recognize that our government is a unity of different parts seeking to secure the life, liberty, and happiness of its citizens.

Its operation depends upon effective interaction and coordination of those parts. It is thus imperative that, in carrying out their respective duties, the different branches of government act with restraint and comity. The high ideals of our government can be achieved only if the different branches of government work together with a sense of commitment to the basic rules laid down for all in government by the Con-

Rev. Johnson to retire after 35 years,

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT Christ Episcopal Church Rector Charles R. Johnson and his wife Harriett are being honored today with a joint birthday celebration in Virginia

Hall presented by the Christ Church choir immediately following the 10 a.m. Rev. Johnson's birthday is Feb. 13;

Mrs. Johnson's birthday is Feb. 15. Rev. Johnson is retiring at the end of February after more than 35 years as rector at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis.

For 27 years of that time he also served as headmaster for the church school that he initiated with only 17 students. The church school now has some 300 students on two campuses—Christ Episcopal Day School in Bay St. Louis for youngsters three-years-old through grade six and Coast Episcopal High School in Pass Christian for students in grades seven through 12.

He has continued to teach religion to elementary students since he gave up the headmaster's post in 1977.

When Rev. Johnson came to Christ Episcopal in Oct. 15, the small frame church at Carroll Ave. and Beach Blvd. had, he says, fewer than 50 parishioners.

Today the church, now located at 912 S. Beach Byld., has some 350 communicants.

As an indication of the church's growth, Johnson notes the insurance value on the Bay St. Louis property is over $1.5 million.

The Pass Christian school property, he says, is worth about $1 million.

The school was begun in Bay St. Louis with 17 kindergarten students in February, 1950.

Joe Pilet of Bay St. Louis says the school was such an immediate success that Rev. Johnson was urged to add first grade the next year. Soon outgrowing its space, the school was moved to the second floor of the Masonic Temple on Main Street.

In 1951 the church bought its present church property with the idea of putting the school and church on the same site.

"We had no problems developing the school," Rev. Johnson said, "but we found it very difficult to move the con-

"Hurricane Camille took care of that in 1969 when the old church was destroyed."

"What we tried to do was add a grade a year to the school," Johnson said.

When St. Joseph's Girls' School closed, Christ Episcopal's school had eight grades, and Johnson said there was a lot of pressure to add three more.

So Christ Episcopal bought property on the beach in Pass Christian with a huge home that was converted into classrooms and a smaller building that was converted into a science building. "We were all ready to move into that school in September—and it was destroyed by Camille, too."

Today Coast Episcopal High School is cated on 37 acres of land Avenue in Pass Christian.

Charles Johnson spent the first ten his life on a farm near Holdradge, Neb. He attended a one-room school house which served students in eight grades and got, he said, a good education And the tornadoes which accompany hurricanes here on the Gulf Coast are no strangers to him. "When I was a child," he said, "many times my father would come in out of the fields in a hurry, put the horses in the barn, gather us up and take us to the storm cellar 'We always hated to go down there.'' he laughed, "because we were afraid we'd find snakes.' Later the Johnson family moved to Omaha, and Johnson graduated from high school there. "I wanted to go on to college, but really couldn't afford it. So I accepted a job at Mutual of Omaha.'

"I worked in the supply room for about six months, and then became an underwriter.'

For the next three years he worked for Mutual of Omaha and went to night school at the University of Omaha, now the University of Nebraska.

And then, having always been interested in the church, he decided that if he could 'find a seminary that would take me,' he'd go. Rev. Johnson received his bachelor of divinity and his master of divinity degrees from Nashotah Seminary in Wisconsin, which arranged for him to complete his college work at Carroll College in Waukesha, Wisc. while he was attending seminary.

His first appointment was Saints' Episcopal Church in Omaha. After 212 years there, he went to St. Andrew's Church in Jackson, Miss. for a

Then he came 'home' to Bay St.

On April 24, 1951 Charles Johnson married Harriett Ostrander of Boston,

And Ann, married to David Colpepper—who is not related to Katherine's husband-lives in Jackson and teaches

Rev. Johnson has been a member of the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees since 1967 and has served as president since 1971.

He has been active in Rotary Club since 1949 and is a Paul Harris Fellow, one of the highest Rotarian honors. He has also served on the board of directors for the Chamber of Commerce, the United Way and the Hancock County Humane Society.

In recognition of his many contributions to the community, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors has. designated the week of Feb. 26 through March 3 as 'Rev. Johnson Week.'

Asked to comment about Rev. Johnson, Mrs. James R. Shadoin, whose husband warden emeritus of Christ Episcopal Church, said "Well, I'm speechless.

"He's just done so much for our community-not just for our parishioners but the entire community, especially for our youth."

Mrs. Fred Logan of Waveland said "We've been parishioners of his church since 1972. He's been a source of great help to us through the years." And Senior Warden Ray Robertson said "We're losing a very loved man." "It's sad to see him retire, but he's 'run the race' and he deserves it." Retirement will bring changes to Rev. and Mrs. Johnson

They will move from the rectory to a house which has been built on the back of the church property.

"I plan to catch up on my reading," Rev. Johnson said. "I hope to play a little golf." "But I'll be here to help when I'm

County Agent's Notes By Lee Taylor

Tree Planting Week Hancock County will observe Arbor Day on February 10, which begins National Tree Planting Week, Feb. 10-17. Arbor Day is a day set aside for observing the importance of trees by planting memorial trees around schools, homes, ways and other places. Arbor Day was first held in Nebraska in 1872 as part of a plan originated by J. Sterling

Morton, who later became U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. The idea of a tree planting day began to spread across the country and became an official day of observance in Mississippi in 1926. The state and county school boards were directed by the legislature to set aside a special day each year in the public schools to plant trees where ever practical on the grounds surrounding all public schools. On Arbor Day many com-Tepresentatives free seedlings demonstrate proper treeplanting methods. Also, during Tree Planting Week, the local committee usually Districts, Garden Clubs of free to the general public.

Trees are given special attention on Arbor Day in Mississippi because more than half of our state is covered by them. Our economy is heavily dependent of trees.

College financial aid possibilities listed

College expenses are depends on the needs of the costing more each year. Many families find that college cost is beyond their family resources. Federal aid has become more difficult to ob-

The following is a list of six possibilities of financial aid for college students:

1. Pell Grant —It is a grant for needy students and does not have to be repaid. A student receiving a Pell Grant may also receive aid from other sources.

A standard formula to evaluate information on a student's application is used.

Anyone can request a copy of schedule of formula by writing to Federal Student Aid, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

The amount a student can receive for an academic year student and program funding. 2. Guaranteed Student Loan

Students from families with adjusted gross income of less $30,000 qualify than automatically. If the family income is above $30,000. special considerations, such as size of family and number in college, determine eligibili-

The maximum amount an undergraduate student can borrow is $2,500 per year and graduate students, $5,000 per year. Loan repayments run from 5-10 years. These loans are provided by private lenders.

GSL's now carry 8 percent interest for new borrowers.

3. Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant —This is a campus-based program with a specified amount of funds to colleges for distribution. These grants are for undergraduates and do not have to be repaid.

The maximum amount a student can receive is $2,000 per year. Grants depend on availability of funds, amount of other aid to the student, and the needs of the student.

4. College Work Study -This program provides parttime employment for undergraduate and graduate students.

Students must work for a public or private non-profit organization and are paid the Federal minimum wage. They are limited in the number of hours they may work a week. Monies are based on the student's need, availability of money, and other aid the student is receiving. 5. National Direct Student Loan -Low interest loans are made available. to undergraduate and graduate students. This program is not offered at all institutions.

Students enrolled in a vocational program or who have completed less than 2 years of a program leading to a BA or BS degree may borrow a total

Undergraduates who have completed 2 years of study may borrow up to a total of $6,000, including all funds bor-

Graduate students may borrow up to $12,000, including what they borrowed previously. Loan repayment period is 10 years and begins 6 months after the student graduates.

Interest rates are 5 percent. Contact the Financial Aid office of the institution of your choice ot see what's available.

6. Parental Loans to Undergraduate Students -PLUS gives parents an opportunity to borrow on behalf of their children. A financial needs test is not required. These loans are made by lending institutions. Loan limits are $3,000 per year for a total of $15,000 for full-time

Sometimes PLUS loans are combined with Guaranteed Student Loans.

The interest rate is 12 percent. An insurance premium is required

Nuptial Mass joins Treutel, Scardino

St. Paul's Catholic Church in Pass Christian was the setting for the January 28 marriage of Debra Francis Scardino and Steven Brian Treutel. Msgr. James McGeogh and Rev. Francis Farrell of Our Lady of the Gulf concelebrated a Nuptial Mass and officiated at the 11:30 a.m. ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Scardino Jr. of Pass Christian. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. Lynn A. Blanchard of Gretna, La. and the late Mr. Blanchard and the late Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Scardino Sr. of New Orleans.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David A. Treutel Sr. of Bay St. Louis. His grandparents are Mrs. Horace Kergosien of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. Kergosien and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Treutel of Bay St. Louis.

A program of music was presented by Thomas Bourdin, of Pass Christian, organist, Mrs. Alicia Ertle Farage of Oxford, pianist, and Desiree Whitten of Oxford and Dorothy Seale of Holly Springs, vocalists.

Ted Schmidt of Pass Christian was lector. Scripture readings were rendered by Susan Treutel, sister of the groom, and Matthew Scardino, brother of the bride.

Offertory gift bearers were Kevin Scardino and Matthew Scardino, brothers of the bride, and Susan Treutel, sister of the groom.

Altar servers were Paul J. Scardino, brother of the bride and Chris Schmidt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory chiffon with schiffli embroidered bodice and trim. Tiny pleated ruffles enhanced the high neckline and long, tapered sleeves at the shoulder and wrist. The gently flared skirt featured appliques of schiffli lace and a double ruffle of crystal pleated chiffon which encircled the hemline of the chapel length train. Tiny buttons at the back ended above a draped bustle.

She wore a Princess Eugenie style hat trimmed with schiffli lace, with slightly rolled brim turned up at the back with a pouf of Russian veilling and illusion streamers which extended to a chapel length

Clermont Handcrafters

Ms. Beverley Praetorius, president, presided at the February meeting of the Clermont Handcrafters held last with embroidered yoke, long Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Goodloe, Clermont Harbor with 16 members present.

The meeting was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. Goodloe. Mrs. Harry Dupont, projects chairperson, gave a detailed report on two worthy projects which the membership unanimously voted to pursue.

Mrs. William Hero was elected to serve the unexpired term of vice-president for the remainder of 1984.

Among the handcrafted articles on display after the meeting were a lovely crochet purse made by Mrs. Goodloe, a pretty egg-shaped Easter basket made by Mrs. Frank Saucier and several attractive carnival pins displayed by Mrs. A. M.

Door prize was won by Mrs. Lorena Bowman. Hostesses for the social following the meeting were Mesdames Goodloe, Aida Schaefer, Gloria Treadaway and

The project for 1984 will be "Doing Things For Hotel Reed Nursing Home." The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Viola Burrows.

Pass Christian Gardeners

Pass Christian Garden Club had its monthly meeting recent ly at the Pass Christian Isles Golf Club where Mrs. Estella Drevar presented a most interesting program on the proper way to prune and prepare rose bushes for planting. Mrs. Bea Johnson announced that plans are complete for the luncheon to be held at the home of Mrs. N. Lee Stanbro, 1 Fox Run in Pass Christian, at noon on Thursday, Feb. 16. The Princess Shop of Bay St. Louis will present a style show at this luncheon. There are no more tickets available for this affair. Mrs. Liz Hedgepeth, horticulture chairman, told everyone that it is still a bit early to clean flower beds or prune shrubs that have suffered through the cold weather this year.

Mrs. Jessie McKay asked that the pilgrimage committee and anyone else interested in helping with the Spring Pilgrimage, meet at the Public Library in Pass Christian at 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10.

Mrs. Millie Shea, bird chairman, took orders for bluebird houses and urged members to purchase one because bluebirds are getting scarce in this area due to lack of nesting areas and more agressive birds.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Avery Katz and Mrs. Frank Juge and their committee.

Southern Co. exec issues year-end report

We finished 1983 in a markedly improved financial condition, with the positive trend in our earnings gaining nomentum during the fourth quarter of the year," Edward L Addison, president of The Southern Company, said.

The Atlanta-based Southern Company is the parent firm of four electric utilities in the Southeast: Alabama Power, Georgia Power, Gulf Power, and Mississippi Power. The S athern Company's common stock is the most widely held electric utility stock in the nation and is one of the 20 most widely held corporate stocks in America.

Addison reported that earnings for the year 1983 were $590 million or $2.70 per share -up $188 million or 32 cents per share from 1982 results. He noted, however, that earnings actually would have improved by 53 cents per share if the effects of accounting changes and nonrecurring items recorded primarily in 1982 were set aside.

For the fourth quarter of 1983, net income reached $162 million -an increase of $80 million from the level achieved during the last three months of 1982. Earnings per share were 71 cents for the period -up 32 cents per share over the fourth quarter of a year

Commenting on the company's stronger performance, Addison said that "...the earnings growth is directly related to more realistic rates in Alabama and Georgia, increased sales of electricity to neighboring utilities, and effective cost controls.

"In addition, an improving economy -coupled with one of the hottest summers on record and abnormally cold temperatures during December created a greater need for electricity across the Addison announced that business use of electric energy in the Southeast reached an all-time high of 18.9 billion kilowatthours during 1983 -- an "increase of 26 percent over the amount of electricity consumed in 1982. Industrial requirements for electricity during 1983 climbed to 35.1 billion kilowatthours -- an increase of 5.3 percent over 1982. In-home consumption of electricity for 1983 rose two percent to 24.6 billion kilowatthours, just short of the record established

Scheduled sales of electricity under long-term contracts with neighboring utilities -many of which are heavily dependent on oil as an energy source- rose from 9.2 billion kilowatthours in 1982 to 11.9 billion kilowatthours in 1983.

Overall, sales of electrcity to customers of the Southern electric system —including neighboring utilities- were up 5.4 percent during 1983.

Reviewing current rate case matters, Addison said that last week the Chancery Court of Hinds County issued an opinion on Mississippi Power's appeal of a 1982 request for $21.9 million in revenues above the level which the company sought in its 1980 rate case. The state public service. commission had denied the request in its entirety. Although the exact amount of the award has not yet been determined, Mississippi Power expects to receive at least 60 percent of its request. An order from the court is expected within two

Concluding his report, Addison noted that in January The Southern Company announced a $2.3-billion construction budget for 1984 and a $7.1-billion building program for the three-year period

Those figures are based on the assumption that the Municipal Electric Authority of Georgia will purchase an additional five-percent interest in the Vogtle Electric Generating Plant If that sale is not completed, the construc-tion budget would increase by some $119 million over the three year period

As a result, the 1984 budget would rise to $2.4 billion and the budget for the three-year period 1984-86 would total $7.2

DAR hears Nelson on need to increase U.S. seapower

Publicist

Friendship Oak DAR & Stewart B. Nelson has done it again!

Just who is Stewart B. Nelson? And what did he do? Nelson is director of management and support serwith at NSTL in Hancock County.

What he did was to accept an invitation to speak last Saturday to members of the Friendship Oak Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution who assembled at the Blue Rose Restaurant in Pass Christian for a luncheon and anxious to hear someone speak with authority on national defense.

Nelson's topic was "Seapower," and he skillfully proved several points on that subject.

How does one get a group of chatty women quiet enough to listen? Nelson had no trouble at all. He simply "charmed them."

He remembered their first names, bombarded them with questions he knew well and good they couldn't answer. Questions such as: "Tell us, Cathy Jo, what percentage of our earth planet is water?" and quickly adds, "that's right it is 71 percent."

"Tell me, Beth, what is the average depth of the waters in our oceans?" "Right again -two and a half miles!"

At this point he adds that the United States ranks fourth in world coast lines...behind Russia, Indonesia and Australia," but he adds on a cheerful note, "no other country has coastlines on so many different bodies of water."

By now with professional skill and without half trying, Stewart Nelson has given his audience "sea legs" and they settle back ready to receive the message.

What message? Partly how every-important-seasbornes products are to the well being of our nation. How every important the oceans are to our e way or good and minerals. Seapower and its position in our national

Answer: Dear M.M.: Historically lenders have. used certain rules of thumb in determining how much to lend, minimum income requirements and the borrower and so forth. These guidelines have been slow to change and for the most part lenders have been satisfied with their ac-

Our new microwave oven will be great for heating meals for those who, due to doctor appointments, arrive late for lunch. They will no longer have to eat cold macaroni or whatever we have that day.

We will also be able to warm dinners for those on special diets, defrost donated food, and have cooking classes on our own equipment.

Thanks to Blanche Collins and Eugenia Benoit for reminding us of our safety need of an emergency citizens band radio to use with the vehicle that has to pick up residents out in the country, we were also given this.

Now if our bus has any trouble out on the country roads, we can get help.

In cutting down on expenses at the center we eliminated some telephone extensions: We now have a wireless intercom with the kitchen and class rooms. This will save many a running down the hall trip and getting messages to the kitchen and other areas.

Q: Do Students have the right to see their school record"

A: Yes, in 1974, Congress passed the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. This provides that students over the age of 18 or parents/guardians of those who are not yet 18, can review education records at schools that receive federal funds.

Furthermore, the parent or student must be given an opportunity to challenge the content of school records they believe to be misleading or inaccurate

If the parent or student makes a reasonable request for an interpretation of the records, the school must com-

Q: We did not get a birth certificate at my daughter's birth. Now, years later, I drew one up myself including the time she was born, length, weight and what she was named. I signed the document and had the doctor who delivered her sign it. Is this document legal?

A: The answer is, no, it is not a legal document. But it is possible to obtain a legal birth certificate through the State Board of Health in Jackson.

If problems result, there is a procedure whereby you can obtain a valid birth certificate by filing a petition in the Chancery Court of the county of your residence.
